Endangered Species Preserve for GOP moderates

Once upon a time there was a viable moderate GOP. Pro business, fiscally responsible and socially progressive they presented a sane rational approach to public policy.

Real politic 101
By Tedd Good

Cincinnatians, think Guy Guckenberger or Nelson Rockefeller. In the 80s and 90s the Log Cabin Republicans were thriving. Starting with the Bush II era the party took a line drive to the right making Nixon, Reagan and Bush I seem moderate. Barry Goldwater has become an icon for the social left. Moderates have been eaten alive or neutered by the pincer claws of the Fundamental right and the Tea Party.

Remember the neutering of Romney. They have become an endangered political species.

As the Obama / Clinton Dems are welding themselves to the GLBT fundraising and organizing machine, conservative GLBTers seemed quite homeless. Some whined that the new conversion by Obama was to little too late.

Lo — here comes one Paul Singer. He is a New York billionaire hedge fund manager organizing a super PAC to support pro marriage equality GOP candidates. Singer is not Gay. His son and son in law are married under Masechuttes law. Its PFLAG on steroids. Singers mission is to provide financial cover to pro marriage equality candidates. It is no surprise that that Singers initial successes have been in the moderate GOP eco zone in the Northeast. Whether this one issue super PAC can gain enough traction to broaden its platform is debatable. At least it is

Life is like that

Osteen vs. Obama

I have heard this year's presidential race called such by political pundits. This much is clear, the race will be close, expensive and evil. How motivated are we? We could help win it or lose it!

I can't imagine four years of Lil' Rom Rom, can you?

Granted, it was tiring hearing about the President's evolution on Gay Marriage, let alone having old Joe Biden outing him. It felt like it took too damn long to get around to burning out "don't ask don't tell".

Yet, I'm just not voting for Lil' Rom Rom who wants to roll back DADT or thinks marriage is only between a man and a woman. We lose this race and that youthful protest of my generation over the Viet Nam war – "I'll move to Canada" might come back in vogue!

Marriage Equality
Old goose is a media ho – she loves attending doing a part in keeping civil debate and moderates alive in the GOP this election cycle events generally within an hour of the Nasti to sniff the air. I was trained in the old days of journalism – we like to walk the beat – talk to people and observe. One such observation: if it were not for the kids from Equality Ohio, Adam Hoover (Support Gay Marriage Equality Ohio) and the soon departed Blake Jelley (just graduated UC) – I'd have no social life*. Four years ago, my social life revolved around Impact Cincinnati—the group grew up and left town... just not sure if it was grew up or left town or both.

Kidding aside, maybe Gay Marriage isn't your pressing issue, but I discovered a few things in the process of these travels. Most of my younger friends had never been to a "for real" public political action. These "actions" while political in nature serve a very social organizing purpose: everyone meets new friends and we all learn something new of our communities and each other. We are also fabulous and grand in such settings.

Oddly, I am not seeing a lot of the "established queer leadership" that protects the youth, or our alleged "better interests." They may be too busy planning or attending gala parties travelling to the White House and such.

Bruce Beisner – "Coronation"

I mean, installation on June 9. Thanks Bruce for the invitation to say a few words for your solid contributions to local queerness. I wish you and hubby Jim all the best wherever the spirit leads. I meet Bruce 25 years ago, and he grew up...and started a new career. Life is like that.

*The author wishes to acknowledge he does do social events with Dr. "Gigs" Maddux on some Friday evenings, and periodic outing with Pappa Pig.

Paul Delph

This publication is dedicated to those who have or have died from AIDS or Hate Crimes

It is our goal to record the positive contributions GLBT people make to their community and the local community at large. While AIDS and Hate CRIMES are certainly not positive things, we seek to draw the positive from the negative. We hold up Paul Delph and Matthew Shepard and their families as models of how human beings should or could react to each other and how families should support loved ones whose lives are not in the box right wing religious zealots want them in. Delph, a multi-talented Cincinnati, died of AIDS in 1996. His mother shut down her business to care for him. Shepard died in 1998, victim of a hate Crime and his mother worked for years to get passed a national Hate Crimes Bill, which is now law.

That PRIDE fever!

By Rusty Lockett

In one corner you have the Dowager Queens sitting gossiping about PRIDES come and gone. The way that they thought PRIDE was and should be. The other corner sees PRIDE as a giant celebration. Another corner sees it as a corporate celebration, a place to get their freebies.

In a more traditional world, yes I used the word traditional, we see PRIDE as a movement. A movement from the rallies and marches. But if it's a movement where are we moving to? Do we know where we moved from? Did we even move?

Lockett

Some would say that we shouldn't leave the political rallies of years past. Others say that we are beyond that. What do I say? Give them both. No reason to compromise. Compromise brings about satisfaction and happiness.

The sad fact is that we forget where we've come from. We forget the riots of the Stonewall Inn, we forget the movement by Harvey Milk and other's of his time. We forget our own movements right here in Cincinnati.

PRIDE is not the time to attack the PRIDE Committee. It's not the time to attack the Community Center. It's the time to join in celebration and support of each other. For without each other we don't have community, we don't have ourselves.

If anything, I'm very proud of what the PRIDE Committee did this year. They made some bold moves and changes. They've dealt with a lot of criticism and even hatred from OUR community. That needs to change, especially if we want PRIDE to be bigger and better. But bigger and better doesn't mean 12 people doing the work. What it means is that we each do our part to support the community. We each do our part to support each other.

Congratulations to the Gay Chamber for another successful PRIDE I wish you nothing best for future PRIDES.

Just a phase

I've long had a suspicion that Bisexuality and Transgenderism are a phase. Not for people, but for society.

People have been transgressing the pre-supposed gender binary in one way or another for a long time, but in recent history, there has been a gradual but fairly major uptick in the number of people who identify themselves as Transgender and Bisexual (and Gay too).

What is Transgender person? In a nutshell, they're someone who has gone through a crossing, a "transit" or transition, a marked change from presenting themselves as one distinct gender to another. A Bisexual is someone who can be attracted to either of two genders or sexes.

But the gender binary is a false dichotomy as any good feminist can tell you and ultimately our choices of partner and presentation are not between caricatures of butch and fem, but along a multi-dimensional continuum of everything whether we remember it all the time or not.

Nate

By Nate Wessel

That's why I like pansexuals and genderqueer people. A pansexual is theoretically open to a partner of any of multiple gender presentations. Bisexuality's "bi" supposes and reasserts the existence of only two. Transgender's "transition" is the inevitable result of a formerly suppressed identity or what would there be to change but gradually? Both identities seem founded on an assumption of distinct genders, and an unclear understanding or discomfort with an ambiguous middle ground.

I think they're both the result of unique and impermanent circumstances, an adaptation of the human spirit to a passingly dualistic world.

But how long can brittle gender last in our current condition? Long term, the only semi-legitimate place for sexism is in sex itself, and if people keep on getting as queer and as tolerant as they have been over the last few decades, that's the only place it'll be. External genitalia? Use a condom! Internal? Here's a dental dam! We're changing the world, and with each generation, people are a little more free to be who they naturally want to be. The rainbow adds colors.

Maybe that means everyone's straight parents were right in a way. It is just a phase. You may think it's important to assert your preference for "man" or "woman" now, but that will be over soon enough (give it a century or so) and your great grandchildren will likely never care or understand as they go about their own life unburdened by gender just as we're unburdened by hoop-skirts and corsets. Things just change so fast in our age.

July 2012 Print Edition GLBT News—Page 5 ISQCCBE (the Court) is under a one year suspension Cincinnati's Court Chapter (ISQCCBE) has been suspended for one year (up to one year) beginning June 2, 2012 .

At end of suspension - three years probation from the International Court System.

Why suspension:

1.) Potential financial irregularities and potential embezzlement

2.) Discrimination again and voting irregularities

3.) Elected officials without appropriate vetting, police checks.

Of these, the general consensus was that Issue one was addressed some years back and is not the primary driver of the suspension.

What does suspension mean?

1.) Local court can't use titles (MONARCHICAL) titles

2.) Other courts should not be part of the local groups activities

3.) There will be no coronation in September and the event at the Millennium has been cancelled costing the local court $1K in deposit fees, a DJ deposit.

(They are proceeding to book Millennium for fall 2013 for a coronation.)

Fundraising during this period?

Yes, the local court can fund raise to the extent they are a 5013C and nothing in regard to the disciplinary actions of the International Court System will prohibit that, again the stricture is against the local court in that titles may not be used, and other courts are not expected to lend their official support for these fund raising.

Trans—from Page 4 and gender topics but also discusses concepts that would be of interest to people with stronger backgrounds in gender theory.

JAC Stringer, also known as Midwest GenderQueer, is a transgender queer femme radical activist, writer and performance artist from Cincinnati. JAC has lectured and performed across the USA and Canada with his work focusing gender-trans* and queer education, social justice, femme identities, (dis)ability, and trans*/queer artistry.

JAC is the founding director of The Midwest Trans* and Queer Wellness Initiative, is a leading activist in the gender identity disorder removal movement, and is a strong advocate for health care reform, sexual assault awareness, and comprehensive sex education. JAC has founded several projects including Cincinnati Trans* Community Group, GenderBloc and the Queer Canon Zine, and is member of several organizing boards including TransOhio, The Philadelphia Transgender Health Conference, The Greater Cincinnati Youth Summit, The International Femme Conference and The International Drag King Community Extravaganza.

As a performer, JAC has done gender-bending dance, music, drag and spoken word as a solo artist and as co-manager of nationally recognized drag cabaret troupe, The Black Mondays. He is a national gender performance showcase producer and is the founder of the Gender Queeries Tour. JAC is a life-long dancer, poet, musician and rabble-rouser whose work's purpose is to generate unity, action, and empowerment and achieve rights and recognition for trans* and queer communities through education, art, and other various forms of revolution.

Gender is connected to every aspect of our lives; our identities, our sexualities, and how we experience the world.

This workshop sorts out the mass of labels, terms and theories surrounding gender through the experiences and language of trans* / gender non-con-forming communities. We will ask why we think about gender, how culture and practices interact with and affect trans* people today, and find commonalities that will help us build a more inclusive, just community.

Our Faith Too!

Called to serve Houston, Texas congregation

Former editor ordained a minister in the Unitarian Universalist Church

Robert Bruce Beisner was ordained as an Unitarian Universalist minister in June, sponsored by the congregations of St. John's, Clifton and Heritage in Newtown.

The Rev. William Gupton, pastor of Heritage Church preached the sermon, Its tope, "We first."

Jim McDonough, board president of St. John's and David Small, president of Heritage led the Act of Ordination and called on all members of both congregations to join in the laying on of hands.

The Rev. Bruce Beisner has been a member of St. John's UU Church since 1996, serving in numerous leadership roles. Bruce served as office administrator of Northern Hills UU Fellowship from 2006 to 2010, intern minister of Heritage UU Church from 2010 to 2011. and consulting student minister of Hopedale UU Community in Oxford from 2011 to 2012.

He earned his Masters of Divinity degree from Meadville Lombard

The Rev. Mr. Beisner

Theological School and was welcomed into Preliminar Fellowship by the Unitarian Universalist Association this last March. Bruce is now the settled minister at Bay Area U U Church in Houston, Texas.

Bruce's partner is Jum Beisner

Bruce worked for the good of the LGBT Community in Cincinnati.

He showed leadership while in college. He, at one time was president of the Gay & Lesbian Community Center and he was very active in the annual PRIDE Event, organizing the speaker's platform in Burnet Woods for the PRIDE Marshals' introductions.

This year he chaired the Interfaith PRIDE

Serevice, event while in stages of moving.

He was also editor of this newspaper for several years before becoming more involved with his church work. Your editor is very proud of the work he did for the paper.

He and Jim and their doges lived at two locations in Northside before moving to College Hill, their home until their recent move to Houston.

Gay lifelong relationships can be blessed

Episcopal News Service Soon same-gender couples can have their lifelong relationships blessed using a rite approved by the Episcopal Church in General Convention.

In a vote by orders, the House of Deputies concurred with the House of Bishops to pass Resolution A049, which authorizes provisional use of the rite "The Witnessing and Blessing of a Lifelong Covenant".

Ed Mullen resigns as director of Equality Ohio, Kim Welter named interim director

Columbus — The Equality Ohio boards of directors unanimously appointed long-time veteran Kim Welter as the organization's interim executive director.

Welter

Her appointment comes after the resignation of former Executive Director Ed Mullen, who had been leading Equality Ohio since January 2011.

“Kim is uniquely qualified to hit the ground running and to lead the organization through this period of transition,” says Paul Feeney, chair of the Equality Ohio Education Fund board. “She is willing to step up and take the helm while our board focuses on conducting a thorough search for a permanent executive director. She will provide stable and effective leadership and continue to execute according to our strategic plan of bringing about full equality for all Ohioans.”

Kim has been serving as the director of Programs and Outreach at Equality Ohio; with five years of experience, she is Their most seasoned staff member, she joined the organization in 2008 after serving as the executive director of Equality Toledo for more than two years. A graduate of the University of Michigan, she got her secondary teaching certificate through the University of Findlay and her Master of Arts and Education from the University of Toledo where she taught composition for three years.

Kim is a 2009/2010 graduate of the Center for Progressive Leadership and serves on the Advisory Board for the Progressive Majority. In 2010, Kim took a leave of absence from Equality Ohio to serve as Campaign Manager for the ONE Bowling Green Campaign in Bowling Green, Ohio which successfully defended two local non-discrimination ordinances from a ballot initiative to repeal. “I’m looking forward to helping this organization through a time of transition and I’m excited to continue the important and necessary work of Equality Ohio,” says Kim Welter, interim director of Equality Ohio.

Through this transition, Equality Ohio will be moving full steam ahead on our two legislative priorities: Creating a welcoming learning environment for all students through an enumerated Safe Schools Act (HB208) and preventing discrimination in housing and employment via the Equality Housing and Employment Act (HB335 / SB231). Equality Ohio will also continue its leadership in the formation of the broad statewide coalition pursuing marriage equality for all Ohio families.

Kim Welter’s appointment to the position was effective as of July 1.

Equality Ohio advocates and educates to achieve fair treatment and equal opportunity for all Ohioans regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity or expression. For more information, visit www.equalityohio.org or call them at 614-224-0400.

Ed Mullen

Ed Mullen, former executive director was involved in some kind of altercation in Columbus and found it necessary to resign his post.

Since he joined the staff in January 2011, Ed brought tremendous vitality and keen legal insights to the organization, stabilized their operations and financial support and led the development of a nationally recognized strategic plan. The Court—from Page 5 activities.

Elections? The court board elections are held in October and they will still be held in October of this year.

Any questions can be direction to kbrowner@fuse.ent (their member at large)

How is this the suspension to be addressed:

The Court is establishing a “reinstatement committee” to address these issues in a timely fashion:

- 1.) To solicit new ideas
- 2.) To clearly look at what has gone well, what not so well
- 3.) Update by-laws, streamline by-laws, compare to other chapters. Eliminate boards of Equality Ohio owe a debt of gratitude to Ed for his leadership and we wish him the very best in all his future endeavors.

- 4.) Focus on communication not just within Court but broader communities
- 5.) Budget review
- 6.) While the Court has done many drag shows in support of charity, clearly a sense was that a court should do other types of activities to garner support.

- 7.) Create an application for board members
 - 8.) Create an application for show ideas/fundraiser
- There will be additional meetings over time to work against these issues.

The local court has adopted the International Courts policy of non-discrimination - the local court had one, but this is broader. Chanak

Planned Parenthood's HIV Prevention unit moves to Northside

By Adam Reilly
Planned Parenthood's HIV prevention project is moving to Northside!!

We are very excited to move to one of Cincinnati's most unique and fun neighborhoods and to be sharing space with our friends and partner in the fight against HIV, Caracole House.

Our program offers free rapid (results in 20 minutes) HIV and Hepatitis C testing to the community by appointment Monday through Friday and we offer this testing periodically at community events. A large part of our mission and what we do is to link people into care once they have tested positive.

Being in our new location with Caracole will help to facilitate this linkage and help to ensure that those who are newly diagnosed can access medical care and case management services. Through this linkage we can help to create a more healthy HIV community in Cincinnati. We are also excited to offer our group and one-on-one counseling services to those who Caracole serves, along with education, prevention services, and training services for clients and staff.

Our program also provides more than 20,000 condoms a year to the community through local bars/clubs, community centers, drug treatment facilities, and community events. We also do community outreach with a focus on the GLBT community, injection drug users, and sex workers.

Through this outreach we provide safer sex kits (testing info, condoms, lube) education, prevention services, and referrals to other programs. Our HIV prevention project is a little more than a year old and we only have two full-time employees currently, but we are looking forward to expanding so that we can offer more robust services to the community. I know I speak for the entire staff of Planned Parenthood when I say, we cannot wait to become a part of the Northside community and to help create a healthier and safer Cincinnati!
